Rumor Widespread, but Associated Press Has Been Unable to Confirm the Story---London Places No Credence in the News

At the Smithsonian Institution not the slightest word of such a fatality or even of an accident had been re-ceived. The state department, which would be most likely to be its consular representatives in Africa, had received no such news. Confidential information, from a source whose reliability cannot be questioned, was obtained here early this morning, making it apparently absolutely certain that no tidings of any mishap to Mr. Roosevelt reached this country by any of the foreign cables. This seems to establish the fact that the rumor is without foundation.

Unless the plans of the party have been changed, Colonel Roosevelt should now be on the Guas Ingishu plateau. He left Londiani with several companions on October 26, arriving at Aldama Ravine on the following day. The last word from his immediate party was from Aldama Ravine and was received in this country by way of Nairobi on October 27. At that time the party was preparing to proceed immediately for Guas Ingishu plateau. It was planned to re-turn to Londiani in five weeks.

The Guas Ingishu plateau is a vast open plain in the north of Kisumu

It is covered with grass and fringed on all sides with trees. It affords ome of the best grazing lands in the British protectorate and is a hunting ground, the visit to which had been eagerly anticipated by Colonel sevelt. Danville, Ill., Nov. 5.-Ben Johnson, a high school boy today confessed, according to the police, that it was he who attempted, with threats of murder, to extort money from C. L. English president of the First National bank. Roscoe Bailey, a prominent young man who has been in jail charged with the crime, was released. Johnson, his face blacked with burnt cork, was arrested last night near the postoffice. He was waiting for the return of a messenger whom he had sent into the office for a letter in which he had demanded that Mr. English should enclose $100.

In the first letter to Mr. English it was demanded that he should deposit in front of his residence last Saturday night a package containing $200. dummy package was placed at the designated spot and a score of police watched the neighborhood. But Johnson slipped through the line got the package and safely reached home, he said.

In the boy's room were found a small revolver and "detective" novels.

PASSENGER TRAIN ON LINCOLN

SIMON BAMBERGER TO ASK FOR A PRIVILEGE.

He Has Been Disappointed in Failing to Obtain Power From Telluride Company.

Monday night a petition will be presented to the city council by Simon Bamberger asking the privilege, for a his passenger trains to his newly ac quired depot at the corner of Lincoln and Twenty-fifth street. The petition To the Honorable Mayor and City Council of Ogden, Utah. "Gentlemen:—The Salt Lake & Og-den Railway has about completed the electrification of its road and all will be finished with the exception of the power house, transformer stations, car and repair shops by the end of this month, and if it had not been for the disagreement which arose with one of the hydro-electric power comrified and ready to operate its elecric cars not later than January 1st

'The company has now under con truction a steam power plant at La. SAMUEL H. CAVE PASSES AWAY coon and are now erecting the transformer stations, one at Stockdale, one at Clearfield and one at Ogden, together with a repair shop at Ogden. The machinery has all been contracted for and some of it is on its way here, so there is no doubt but what the road will be completed and ready for electric operation not later than

"The company has acquired the Harris property on the corner of Lincoln avenue and Twenty-fifth street and also purchased the Allen block immediately adjoining on the south side thereof, which property is to be used for passenger and express station.
The crossings, for crossing the Rapid Transit tracks are on the way and as soon as the same arrive the company will extend its line as far as the Rio Grande tracks.

"In view of the facts above recited, the company requests your honorable body to grant to it permission to back down its passenger trains operating by steam from 31st street to 25th street along Lincoln avenue, for such a time until the road will be ready to operate by electricity, which, how-ever, will not be more than four months.

(Signed) "Yours very respectfully, "SALT LAKE & OGDEN RY. CO." Mr. Bamberger says if there is any doubt as to the temporary nature of the privilege his road seeks, he will submit the matter to any attorney who might be designated to draw up resolutions safeguarding the rights of property holders on Lincoln avenue and he and his road will abide by those resolutions.

Mr. Bamberger believes the locating of a depot at the corner of Lin-coln and Twenty-fifth street will add materially to the value of property in Paris, Nov. 5 .- The Steinhell case emained the center of intense interest today. Contrary to expectation, Mme. Steinheil again took the stand, it being decided to resume the direct interrogatory addressed to her yester day. She plainly showed the effects of the trying ordeal she had passed through during the last two days. Great black rings were under her eyes and her face had the color of putty. Nevertheless, she rose to her feet when the inquiry began, and respond-the witness' strength too severely, but he was quickly reassured by Mme. Steinheil, who said: "No, I am not at all fatigued." In opening the proceedings, Judge DeValles dealt with the appearance yesterday of Rene Collard, an actor, who caused a momentary sensation by asserting he was the real assas-

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The screeching of parrot in the La Salle street station last night frustrated the plans of a runaway wife, and later the bird was the means of effecting a reconciliation between the woman and her husband, Edward Zarandt.

The couple were married a year ago at South Bend, Ind. Among the wed-ding gifts they received was a parrot. When the busband returned home from work last evening he discovered that his wife satchel filled with clothes and the talkative bird. Surmising that she had left him to go back to her old residence, Zarandt hurried to the La Salle street station. He searched through the waiting rooms, but his wife was not there. Just as he was leaving the building he heard a parrot screech. The sound came from the parcel room on the main floors. Thrusting his head through an opening, his gaze fell upon the bird in its cage. "Hello, Polly," said Zarandt, pursing his lips and making a kissing scound;
